March 16, 2020

As the world-wide coronavirus outbreak continues to dominate our news each day, we know this may be a source of growing concern for you, your place of business and your family.

Northeast Test Consultants stands ready as a resource for the communities we serve. We want to assure you that keeping our customers, staff and all associated families safe and well is our top priority during this time.

As the situation surrounding coronavirus continues to evolve, we are taking extra measures to ensure the ongoing safety of our customers and employees. And, we are implementing plans to maintain safe, reliable service to you.

During this time, it is essential that each of us practice simple, preventative measures as recommended by public health authorities. We have advised our employees of personal hygiene and social distancing techniques and have provisioned workplaces with sanitary supplies to inhibit the spread of the virus at work and in the community. We ask that if you have a service appointment at your home or business, and are ill, please contact us so we can reschedule or take appropriate measures.

We will continue to monitor the situation, and we are prepared to take additional measures as necessary, following guidance from local, state and federal public health authorities. For more information and ongoing updates on the situation, please visit:
